DR. EDWARDS FLAYS CITY'S CONDITION

Minister in Strong Attack on Evils of City in Sunday Evening
Sermon—Cites Instances of Wrongdoing.

Devils may possess men today as well as they did in the olden days, according to Dr. Loren M. Edwards, continuing his attack on lawlessness and vice in this city from the pulpit of the Methodist church Sunday evening. The minister stated that the evils of intemperance, social corruption, lawlessness, political rottenness, gambling, dishonesty and official crookedness were running rampant in this city today, even the mayor and chief of police knew it not.

Explaining the latter, Dr. Edwards said that if a bank teller were told that money was being taken from his bank daily and he said that he knew it not and if a school board were told that its teachers were absenting themselves daily and they said they knew it not, their lack of knowledge would be as inexcusable as the mayors or the police chiefs, and they would be liars, thieves or knaves.

"How much worse must lawlessness and saloon anarchy and official rottenness become before something cleansing is done?" asked the minister. "We have our fine homes, our paved streets, our pure water and our hundred other improvements," said Dr. Edwards, "but nevertheless we have a whiskey cursed, saloon-ridden city dominated by consciousness cowards. Why I sit up nights trying to think of a way to clean our fair city from the country club to the west end from Smoky Row to the city hall."

Citing particular examples to prove the conditions which are alleged to exist, Dr. Edwards stated that there was bawdy house on W. Second st., near Springbrook park. He said that the chief of police had been asked to close this place and said that the mayor stated that he ordered the chief to close the place, but that while the chief admits the alleged character of the place it had not been closed. As another example the minister pointed to the west end saloons where he said such conditions as women drunk and Sunday openings are of frequent occurrence. "Each one of these saloons has a spy," said the speaker, "who quietly the revelry within while the officer passes by. But don't blame the officer for he has orders from higher up."

"In the VanDaele saloon on S. Wells st.," said Dr. Edwards, "there is a city employee, an employee of the fire department, who is paid to tend bar on Sundays. At the Fourth of July celebration on West Thirteenth st., a fight broke out over a woman in which one man was stabbed in the head and another brought an ax onto the scene to get into the fight, but was held back by onlookers. The chief of police was called and went in person to the fight. He started to arrest two men but they drew back and said, 'We are innocent and if you arrest us there will be a murder right here,' whereupon the chief withdrew and made no arrests."

Several questions were then propounded by the speaker. The first, "What can be done?" was answered by a response to civic duty and a desire to clean up the city. "Where conditions are such that they nauseate even those with little sense of right," said the speaker "it is time to clean up."

Answering the question, "Who is to do it?" Dr. Edwards said "We are," the women with their prayers and encouragement; the men with their influence and their ballot; the business men with their courage of convictions; the manufacturer, the churches."

Closing his address, Dr. Edwards said: "Friends, the fullness of time has come, the tide of opportunity is at the flood. We have drained the cup of iniquity to the bitter dregs. The lessons of the past have burned their way into our very hearts, the rottenness of civic conditions has reached that point of pathology where instant and drastic surgery is the only hope for the patient's life. The hope of this fair city hangs in the balance, the purity of our children is at issue, the protection of our homes is threatened, the integrity of our citizenship is challenged. But above the clamor of frenzied strife, above the chaos of shameful debauchery, we can hear the deep and majestic tones of the voice of the eternal God saying—Mishawaka, cleanse your city, set your house in order against a day of righteous judgment, for he that being often reproved hardeneth his neck shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy."

Hoosier Creams Lose to Locals
in Championship Contest—Large Crowd Turns Out to See Contest.

The much touted Hoosier Cream baseball team of South Bend failed to stop the strong Mishawaka team from laying a clearing title to the northern Indiana championship when they went down to defeat at the hands of the locals by a score of 5 to 4 on the north side diamond Sunday afternoon.

It was the most interesting and exciting game witnessed on the north side diamond this season. The South Benders were the first to score but Mishawaka came right back and obtained an early lead which they retained until the eighth inning, when Smith of the visitors' team drove the ball over the fence with one man on base tying the score.

In the last half of the eighth inning Philon singled and was sent home with a long drive to left field from Werntz's bat making the score 5 to 4 in favor of the locals. Fisher pitched a good game for Mishawaka striking out 12 men and allowing but five hits.

The visitors' club with pennants and megaphones occupied the whole east bleachers and did their share of rooting for the home team.

DOINS' IN BRUIN TOWN

COPYRIGHT, 1913, BY THE NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSOCIATION.

ARTIST VERBECK SENDS A LETTER TO US ABOUT THE TRAGEDY.

DEAR FOLKS:—

It becomes my sad duty today to record, and to notify you, of a Bruin Town tragedy!

It happened early this morning. Our dear old Wandering Brother was shot!

He went out on the mountain side about daybreak with little Katie and little Tommy to pick huckleberries!

At 7:45 a. m. we heard that most dreadful of all noises, the report of a gun!

Instantly all Bruin Town seemed to thrub with alarm. Instead of the inhabitants trying to find a safe hiding place, they moved, as one bear, in the direction of the shot. I went, too.

As we advanced, we suddenly saw Katie and Tommy, hand in hand, running toward us. They were gasping!

They were breathless! They were speechless!

To the frantic inquiries of the daddy bears and mamma bears, neither could say a word. Instead they pointed toward the woods.

We hurried on. There we found poor Wandering Brother lying on the ground, unconscious!

Lovely, big bear hands made a litter of pine boughs, and the wounded brother was placed on it with care.

Slowly four of the biggest, strongest Bruins started off with the litter toward town. It was awful to see the way Tommy and Katie took on. They were so afraid poor Wandering Brother might be fatally hurt!

Since old Father Bruin has been away fishing, the last few weeks, Wandering Brother has been acting mayor. Who should be mayor now?

As soon as W. B. was comfortably settled in his own bear house, and Dr. Bruin had declared he would get over his gun wound, everybody started wondering who should run the city till Father got back.

After about a minute, one of the older Bruins came over to me and took me by the hand, and asked me to manage things for them.

Imagine a man being mayor of Bruin Town. Well, I was sorry for them and agreed.

I am now acting mayor of Bruin Town. It's an honor indeed!

FRANK VERBECK.

P. S.—Wandering Brother has asked for something to eat. There is much hope for his recovery.

MOTHER IN DESPAIR TAKES HER LIFE

Adams County Woman's Husband Deserts Her—Child Dead—Nothing But Suicide.

DECATUR, Ind., July 13.—A sad double tragedy of city life, in which a mother's love and despair over the tragic death of her only daughter and child, caused her to take her own life, was revealed in a message received by Caleb B. Andrews.

The message told of the death of Mary Adams Schultz of Chicago, a former Adams county woman, a daughter of the late Henry Wagner, whose girlhood days were spent at her home a mile west and a quarter mile north of Monroe.

Finding the dead body of her daughter, Mabel Wagner, aged 19, whom she had been seeking for four days, the mother committed suicide Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at her home in Chicago.

Her girl's body was recovered by Capt. Charles Barland, of the life-saving station, from the basin of the Columbia Yacht club. No marks of violence were found. Whether the daughter Mabel met death by foul play or whether her death was accidental or a suicide is unknown.

Hard Life in City.

Mary Wagner left her girlhood home many years ago and went to Chicago to live. There she met her future husband, Mrs. Schultz, and was married to him. The daughter, Mabel, who is now about 19 years old, was born to them. When the baby was only eight months old the parents were separated and have not lived together since, having secured a divorce. Mrs. Schultz was about 39 years old.

Brother Lives in Ft. Wayne.

She leaves besides her mother two sisters, Susanna Withaus of Berner and Laura Wagner of Chillicothe, O. Three brothers survive. They are E. Wagner, Michigan; Frank Wagner, Ft. Wayne and John, of Michigan City.

Capt. Barland, who recovered the body of the girl from the lake, is the Capt. Carland who was in Ft. Wayne during the flood with his crew of Chicago life-savers, and assisted in making a number of rescues from houses surrounded by the high water.
